

Double Header to Griffmen Against Yankees---Bill Donovan in the Box

Now I Shall Place the Perkins Winter Stock on Sale.

This has got to go quickly, for we must vacate this store. But I have made the prices fit the need for speed—and you'll get the biggest bargains of a lifetime. For the most part the heavy-weight stock is comprised of staples—those styles which endure in favor; and that are never included in "Clearance Sales"—except under such conditions as this—when this Shop is going out of business.

There are, however, many lines of advance purchases for the coming season—that could not be countermanded—and must therefore be sacrificed NOW.

I only need remind you that the Perkins Shop made a specialty of the highest grades of Men's Apparel to give to these special prices a significance you cannot afford to overlook.

Right now you are thinking of the fall and winter needs—and here's an opportunity to supply them that's without a precedent.

BROOKLYN GETS MARQUARD.

Dodgers Agree to Pay $2,500 for Giant Pitcher.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 31.—It has definitely been decided that "Rube" Marquard, recently released by the Giants, will go to the Brooklyn National League team. Wilbert Robinson, John J. McGraw, and Charles H. Ebbets reached an agreement at a conference yesterday, and Brooklyn will take over the player at a price said to be $2,500.

All of the major league clubs had waived claim on Marquard, and he was released by the Giants to Toronto. He refused to join the minors, however, and after a talk with Wilbert Robinson on Saturday the Brooklyn club made an offer to the Giants of the waiver price, $1,500, for the player. It is understood that McGraw at the conference with Ebbets and Robinson released the valuation of Marquard to $2,500, and this price Brooklyn agreed to pay.

CHENEY FOR SUPERBAS.

Dodgers Obtain Services of Star

Harrier of Chicago Cubs.

New York, Aug. 31.—Larry Cheney, for several years one of the Chicago Cubs' best pitchers, was traded yesterday to the Brooklyn Superbas for Manager Robinson and Bresnahan after a long argument, and at the end of the drive a player will be allowed to throw for goal, and if he makes the goal it will count. Hereafter the amateur rules did not permit of the scoring of a goal after a dribble, but the amateur authorities have conceded this point to the college men, and in the future amateur teams will permit this style of play.

BASKETBALL UNIFORM IN THE DRIBBLE RULE

For the first time in the history of basketball the amateur and collegiate rules for the game will be similar this year. During the winter the A. A. U. officials held conferences and obtained a consensus of opinion from the different amateur basketball authorities as to their attitude toward uniform rules for collegians and the amateur fives. Since that time George T. Hepburn has discussed the matter with collegiate authorities, with the result that the basketball rules, which issued last month, will be alike for A. A. U. men, and for the collegians.

There were a number of different points on which the two sets of rules differed, but the most important and troublesome was the dribbling question. There did not seem to be any common ground on which the two bodies could agree for this system of play, but after the conferences of the A. A. U. men had taken place Mr. Hepburn went over the matter with the collegiate committee. When Mr. Hepburn and the college men had reached an agreement, a mail vote on the matter was taken among the A. A. U. men, and it was decided to have a uniform rule.

The new uniform dribble rule, in substance follows: Dribbling will be permitted, and at the end of the dribble a player will be allowed to throw for goal, and if he makes the goal it will count. Hereafter the amateur rules did not permit of the scoring of a goal after a dribble, but the amateur authorities have conceded this point to the college men, and in the future amateur teams will permit this style of play.

Nationals Take Both Ends of Double Bill

New York Yanks Beaten to Celebrate Home-coming. Bill Donovan in Box.

ELEVEN INNING COMBAT

Final Battle Won When Shanks Raps Clean Single to Left—Gallia in Form.

By WILLIAM FEET.

Just to make it a nice little party, and to celebrate a home-coming after a highly successful Western trip, the Griffmen here yesterday jammed a double-header down the throats of Bill Donovan's New York Yankees.

Because the Yanks could not hit Gallia, the first game dropped into Griff's bag, 4 to 1. The second affair, which lasted eleven innings, resulted in a 3 to 2 count. Howard Shanks delivered a timely single, which put this combat on the right side of the ledger.

The real excitement was unrolled when the fifth inning of the first game rolled around, or, to be exact, when the Griffmen came to bat during the final half of the fifth.

Carroll Brown, who had been damaged four runs' worth in the previous chapter, was chased to the showers by Manager Donovan who substituted "Wild Bill" Donovan.

Bill Donovan Appears.

The crowd could hardly believe its eyes when "Smiling Bill" strode majestically to the mound, and, with a "Look who's here," chirped Griff from the coaching lines.

"Now is your chance, Griff. Go to the bull pen and warm up," admonished a fan from the second tier.

"What will you bet you don't last out the inning?" shouted the Old Fox. Bill Donovan simply smiled and went to work.

Expecting an immediate rain of base hits, two-baggers, and trifles, the crowd settled back to enjoy the fun.

It didn't rain hits.

On the contrary, Old Bill Donovan retired the side in order. Then the fans gave him a lusty cheer.

In the sixth, with one down, Gandil walked and stole second, but the next two were easy pickings, and the next two, McBride, Gallia, and Moeller, ignominiously fanned in order. Milan thumped a single to right in the eighth, and that single was the only hit Donovan allowed.

Washington fans sure did warm up to Smiling Bill. No pitcher who has appeared here this season was given such an ovation as greeted the New York leader when it was all over.

"It's a good thing that guy didn't start the game in the box for New York," one fan remarked.

Getting down to brass tacks, Bill Donovan looks to have considerable pitching left in that old right wing of his.

FIRST GAME.

The story of the first game is the story of the fourth inning, when the Nationals grabbed off a quart of the Griffmen's rest, for their pitching was simply unbeatatable.

Carroll Brown fooled the Griffmen for three chapters, but in the fourth he had a sudden wild streak, which proved to be his undoing.

Foster and Milan both straddled, Shanks laid down a bunt, and the Griffmen were out.

Shanks, which was wide, to first base. Foster, attempting to score, was finally run to earth, but this left Milan on third and Shanks on second.
